

Aspire. Apply. Achieve.

ivyWise is the world's premier global educational consultancy supporting students in over 40 countries. In 2015, 92% of ivyWise students were accepted into one or more of their three top choice colleges. Visit us at ivyWise.com

HOME » Cities » Miami » A Miami Store You Need To Know About Now

A Miami Store You Need to Know About Now

A new Romero Britto gallery and concept store will be opening soon

Written by Rachel Wallace

Romero Britto and his vibrant art have become symbolic of Miami—although he's anything but domestic, with a calendar that has recently included travels to China, Italy, England and beyond for shows and projects. He'll even be at the opening ceremony of the Olympics in his native Brazil, and as an official ambassador he had the chance to carry the torch as it passed through his home city of Recife in June.

Travels aside, Britto still calls Miami his home, and will soon be expanding his ubiquitous presence in the city with two new storefronts on Lincoln Road. Britto has occupied a traditional art gallery on the famous pedestrian mall for the past 21 years, and he will be moving that gallery to a larger space at 1102 Lincoln Road. As for the second storefront, it will be a concept store which will sell Britto collectibles. "I've been thinking, for quite a while, to open my Britto store to sell collectibles and limited editions, and it was a great moment to do it because of the new location. It was just perfect timing to do it," says Britto. "It's a perfect place to be there on Lincoln Road."

Both projects are scheduled to open their doors some time in August.

Tags: All Cities, Arts and Culture, Miami

STORIES DUJOUR

Raf Simons Is Named Chief Creative Officer at Calvin Klein

The fashion brand explores a new creative strategy MORE

Lais Ribeiro's Dance Down the Runway

The Brazilian beauty talks fashion week memories, parties and her new moves MORE

The Double Life of Patrón Tequila

Behind the flashy name is a deeply traditional system of manufacturing that will surprise even its biggest fans MORE

A Miami Store You Need to Know About Now

A new Romero Britto gallery and concept store will be opening soon MORE

My First Piece of Art: Wolfgang Puck

The chef who redefined California cuisine—and whose first New York restaurant opens this summer—explains how his dining rooms end up looking like museums MORE

Drink DuJour: Silver Dragon

A Southwestern twist on the martini MORE